Fire Protection Cost is Estimated by CC Committee

J. B. Pearce, chairman of the fire committee of the Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce, has issued a chart showing the estimated cost of fire protection for the community, copies of which are available to any person interested.

Assessed valuation of Lemon Grove is now estimated at approximately $5 million and on this basis a capital outlay of $12,500 for fire fighting equipment and its maintenance for the first year will be $23,665. At a 50c per $100 value, assessment will make the cost to the average Lemon Grove homeowner, $7.85 the first year. There can be no reduction in insurance rates for the first two years. This fact is proven in the establishment of fire protection districts in other localities in the State.

Even at that, Mr. Pearce's chart shows the cost to be only $4.08 the second year on an estimated assessed valuation of $5½ million.

The third year will begin to show genuine results, both in savings in insurance cost and cost of maintaining and operating the fire department. The cost will be $1.44 the third year.

The cost will continue to drop and will cost only 65c the fifth year, on an estimated assessed valuation of $6,250,000.

The rates in Mr. Pearce's estimate are based on a property with an assessed valuation of $1570, and on a $3000 insurance policy. Most homes are insured for above that amount.

ADVERTISE LEMON GROVE

Forest and Bob Baxter, 2925 Buena Vista street, did their best to give their business and Lemon Grove good advertising while on a business trip to Los Angeles the past week end. A good many people up that way now know there is a Lemon Grove because the Baxters drove their truck with the big yellow lemon on it.

LOSES FATHER IN EAST

Mrs. Larry Archer, 2883 Buena Vista street, returned Thursday from Springfield, Mo. When she was notified that her father was stricken with incurable cancer Mrs. Archer rushed to be at his bedside. She was there seven weeks. Her father passed away just prior to her return.

GOES TO CANADA

Hope for State Help on New High School

The building of a new high school on University depends upon the outcome of the state bond election to be held in November.

The legislature has set November 8 as the date for a special election for the voters to decide upon many issues, among them the fate of Proposition 4, special bond issue and several other bills including veterans' housing.

"If the state bonds for school construction are voted, we will make immediate application, and may be able to start construction in the spring," said Lew Smith, Grossmont Union High superintendent.

If the state bond election should fail, Smith said the only course of action would be for the district to call a bond election, as the new school is sorely needed.

Brigadier Gen. Emil C. Kiel, base commander, Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, has notified Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Bennett, 2315 El Prado street, that their son, Pfc Kenneth G. Bennett, has graduated from the Air Force Communications School.

Pfc Bennett finished the course of an Air Force Radio Mechanic and has been selected to take a course in classroom technique in preparation to becoming an instructor.

Kenneth is a graduate of Grossmont Union High School; enlisted February 4, 1948, and completed his basic training at Lockheed Air Force Base, Texas. He is expected home this week to visit his parents.

Queen Contest Area Limits Set

Plans for the first annual festival in Lemon Grove are proceeding with remarkable success. Many of the local clubs have stated they were taking booths. It is hoped that the other organizations will follow suit. Any one wishing information concerning concessions please call H6-6827 or H6-8204.

A slight change in the queen's contest rules has been made. The territorial limit has been extended to include the entire San Diego county. However, the contestant must have a local sponsor.

Steve Winans, of Mutual Liquid Gas Co. and his secretary, Mrs. Robert Hill, have completed the arrangements for the Queen's contest. Those wishing to enter call H6-8466. The lucky contestant who is chosen to reign over Powwow will receive a lovely wardrobe; to the runner-up a wrist watch and to the other contestants souvenirs to remind them of the party they played in Lemon Grove's first festival. Tickets on the $500.00 Saving Bond entitling purchaser to five votes in the Queen's contest, are now on sale.

Numerous contests are being planned to be held during the Powwow to distribute prizes donated by the Lemon Grove merchants.

Watch the Review for announcement of the contests to be held. The contests will be varied to include all age groups.

COMETS TAKEN BY JAMUL

The Lemon Grove Comets formerly mentioned as the Grovers, lost a heart-breaker to the base ball team from Jamul on Sunday by a score of 5 to 3. However Hadley pitched a good game for the Comets giving up 9 hits, while the winning pitcher, Palmer, allowed only 3 hits. The Comets' next game will be with Pine Valley on the home grounds at Grove and Imperial.

ON IMPORTANT COMMITTEE

At the Tuesday meeting of the San Diego County Federation of Women's Clubs, in the Mission Beach Woman's Club house, Mrs. Ted Haaf was asked to serve on the revision committee with Mrs. Lee Samuels and Mrs. Guy Weatherie. Mrs. Haaf accepted and will represent the local club well in Federation.

Campers will have an opportunity to visit world-famous Palomar observatory. Cabin tents, showers, a modern dining room, a library, two recreation areas, and a lake are available to campers. Fishing, movies, nature study, hiking and other forms of recreation are scheduled, but guests may plan their own activities if they wish. "If you just want to lie in the shade of a pine tree all day, why it is perfectly all right," Mrs. Burnett said.

Palomar Mountain Camp has an abundant supply of pure mountain water and is electrically lighted. Registrations may be made for the following weeks in August: August 3 to 7; 10 to 14; 17 to 21; 24 to 28; and 31 to Sept. 3.

This is a community day so make it a friendly day, too. Fill up your car and help those who have no transportation to get there. Call H6-5321 for information. El Monte Park is large enough for all of the children and Much enthusiasm is being shown why not have them there.

Camp Fire Girls Program Today

"Pursue Knowledge" is the theme of the Blue Bird and Junior Camp Fire Girl's camp program for Thursday of this week. Over 100 girls enjoyed the program last week.

After the flag ceremony and group singing the girls will make blue prints of nature specimen which they find in the park. There will be an outdoor cook at noon and the Camp Fire Girls will hear Indian legends.

After the rest period a ranger from the State Division of Forestry will speak to the girls on conservation and tell them how they can help protect our trees etc. They will finish the day making posters on conservation.

Mrs. Joe Young is camp director for the day, assisted by Mrs. F. R. Faucher and William Selenick. Mrs. R. Close will lead the singing and Mrs. H. Blalock will take care of the business as usual. Senior Camp Fire Girls and some leaders from La Mesa will also assist.

SUFFERS HEART ATTACK

Art Wilson, 7576 Pacific street, the popular "Butch" at the Lemon Grove Shopping Center, suffered a heart attack while standing at the corner of Main and Broadway last Sunday. He was taken to the hospital, but has recovered sufficiently to return home and be out again.

Move and Name Change Made by Local Cleaners

Monterey Cleaners is the new name for the Grove Quality Cleaners, now owned and operated by Art Walker. The name applies to the main office and cleaning plant with a new location at 3504 Main street, and the new branch office opening at 1807 Englewood drive, Monterey Heights. The main office is just south of the former location.

Mr. Walker has added the new Shield's Cleaning Unit to his plant to give better and quicker service to the public.

By having our own plant," says Mr. Walker, "we will not only give better service but will be able to give employment to more local people. We are starting out with nine employees, mostly local, and will be able to add to the force as business increases."

Double orders of S&H Green stamps will be given with each cleaning the first week.

Mr. Walker believes in trading at home. He not only invites your patronage but urges you to support all Lemon Grove businesses.

He feels that with the two cleaning plants now operating in Lemon Grove—the Dutch Cleaners at 7870 Broadway, operated by Bill Vandenberg, and the Monterey Cleaners at 3504 Main, this community can keep looking its best.

The Monterey Cleaners' motto is: "Come clean with us and we will dye for you."

Mr. Walker will be looking for you at the Community picnic on Sunday.

State Curbs Aid to Schools in Cutting ADA Help

BYRON L. NETZLEY
District Superintendent
This year we sent our legislators to Sacramento with one set of instructions, "hold taxes down." And surely our representatives are to be commended for following instructions since they passed a record low of special appropriation bills—less than $25,000,000.

Among other agencies to feel the results of this program, the schools were denied a bill that would have provided more State money for operating schools. As a result of this, the Lemon Grove School District will receive a cut of approximately $50,000. in its anticipated State revenue for operation during the next school term.

Now let's see what that means in terms of the individual child in school.

In 1948-49, the Lemon Grove School District received $145.44 per child from the State.

Under proposed legislation, the Lemon Grove School District would have received $165.99 per child from the State.

Under the new law passed by the legislature, the Lemon Grove School District will receive $135.51 per child from the State.

Furthermore, since the State will pay the School District for 1300 children rather than 1500—1949-50 enrollment—the actual amount of State aid per child to this district will be $117.07.

This will mean that classes will have to be doubled up still more since the District will not be able to employ a sufficient number of teachers. The budget for operation will have to be cut to the bone which will be difficult since three schools will have to be maintained instead of one. Transportation of pupils will have to be reduced to a minimum.

Yes, the legislators saved money, but in this case it will mean that the educational program for our children will suffer as a result.

Ask Corner be Made Safer

At the meeting of the Business Women's League on Thursday of last week, a letter was sent to the Chamber of Commerce asking it to try to have the corner of Golden and Washington cleared to the view of drivers. It is a very dangerous corner.

The annual community picnic and the Powwow were also discussed. Members decided to provide punch and drinking cups for the picnic. Mrs. Andy Skaggs and Mrs. C. F. Baxter are on the committee.

The next meeting of the League will be held in Friendship Hall at luncheon on Thursday, July 21. After the meeting all who can will drive to down town San Diego, where they will make a tour of Good Will Industries.

A board meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. L. Etensohn, Pacific avenue, Friday evening. All members of the board are requested to be present.

Special Election Set for Nov. 8

The voters of the Eightieth Assembly District will go to the polls in the special election on November 8 and elect an assemblyman to succeed Assemblyman Harold Cramer, resigned.

Two candidates have already announced themselves—Ed J. Neron of Mt. Helix and Mayor Loren C. Koester of Chula Vista. While these two candidates are Republican, all candidates in this election will run as non-partisan.

BRING GIFTS SUNDAY

All members and friends of the First Congregational Church of Lemon Grove, who so generously joined in the 'Coin and Prayer' plan, are requested to bring in the returns of their efforts at the services on Sunday. These gifts will be used to help pay off the debt on Friendship Hall.

Nearly one million housing units were turned out in 1948.

There are some in high places in both the state and federal government who seem to think we should ape the European ways. By the shades of our Founding Fathers! Here they tried to establish a government, free from the obnoxious elements of Old World tyranny. They selected that which appeared to be good, and rejected religious intolerance, bigotry, the debtor's prison, and replaced them with freedom of speech and press, right of assembly, trial by jury and a host of other things that we take for granted. Certain officials in government today are trying to swing the pendulum back 170 years under the name of progress, through socialized medicine, federal grant to education, handouts to certain classes at the expense of other classes. During the past 17 years of New Dealism, class legislation has brought nothing but strife and hatred. The first 100 days of the Roosevelt administration had much to commend it, but the thirst for power became greater as time went on, until today the New Deal can continue itself in office if it so desires unless the members of the various minority groups see the light and realize when the next election comes that they have been taken for a ride. We are all members of minority groups of one kind or another, a fact which too many people fail to stop and think about.

The people of Lemon Grove have a big job on their hands in completing the community center building on School lane. Only by the concerted effort of everybody can the job be done. The county is furnishing the site and the materials. It is up to the people of Lemon Grove to do the rest. The Review believes that if everybody understands the situation, the building will be completed—a credit to the community and a meeting place that all will enjoy over the years to come.

The members of the California legislature who voted against the best interests of the State's schools in cutting the ADA aid have much to answer for. If anything will hasten Federal aid to education, it is just such acts as this. The state sales tax was passed by the people in the early 30's because they were told that the schools would have first call upon the funds. The sales tax grows bigger and bigger, but a near-sighted legislature takes the money that rightly belongs to school children, and spends it elsewhere. Then school districts like Lemon Grove must suffer. We trust the next session of the assembly will see that this blunder is corrected.

In the fight over the old age pension law, Proposition No. 4, the pensioners who need the monthly checks should not be made to suffer. While we do not agree with many features of Proposition 4, we do feel that the recipients are entitled to the monthly assistance from the state and federal governments. No law nor constitutional amendment should be passed with the name of a candidate for the administrative office incorporated into it. Such officer should be appointed by the governor or the legislature or elected from a group of candidates by the people; and every citizen of the State should be eligible for that office the same as any other office. The kinks in Proposition 4 should be ironed out and the proponents, if they have the interests of the people at heart, should be just as anxious to have this done as are other people.

As newcomers to Lemon Grove the publishers of the Review can see that there are many things that the community needs. First and foremost is fire protection. Lemon Grove has grown rapidly in the past 18 months and will grow faster in the next year, we are sure. Fire protection is a prime requisite of any community. Valuable property must be protected. The community is too densely settled now to longer depend entirely upon the Forestry Department. Some day it may have a major conflagration. Then what would the cost be? The schedule of cost released by J. B. Pearce, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce fire committee, shows just what it will cost the property owners over a period of years. Check his figures against a total loss of your property and you will see that the cost for protection is small.

"Will the Review have an editorial page?" has been asked by many local people. We believe that a newspaper without an editorial page is like a boat without a rudder. It just drifts. We do not propose that the Lemon Grove Review shall just drift along. We hope to keep it headed into the wind. In other words, we are adopting a policy, as stated in last week's issue, and hope to follow through to an ultimate conclusion.

POULTRY RESPIRATORY DIAGNOSIS DIFFICULT

The greatest difficulty with respiratory diseases in poultry is the diagnosis. Dr. E. E. Jones, veterinary pathologist for the state Department of Agriculture, told poultrymen at a recent poultry industry conference on the Berkeley campus of the University of California. Poultrymen can help by submitting their sick birds to the laboratory along with a complete history of the flock.

R. H. Adolph, Assistant Farm Advisor of the Agricultural Extension Service, reports that during a panel discussion on respiratory diseases in chickens and turkeys, Dr. Jones also pointed out that much time is still being spent in proving or disproving ideas about the diagnosis of respiratory diseases. Many laboratory tests are routine, but many more are still in the research stage. For instance, there is still no easy, routine method of diagnosis for infectious bronchitis.

During the discussion it was brought out that many poultrymen become alarmed about pneumocephalitis (Newcastle disease) when their flocks show any symptoms of respiratory infection. The early symptoms, mild coughing and sneezing, are the same for many respiratory diseases, but a laboratory test is required for an accurate test of any of them.

Infectious bronchitis has a more severe effect on egg quality than pneumocephalitis, the panel agreed. The whites are watery, shells thin, the eggs bumpy, small and misshapen, with low hatchability. However, the diagnosis of infectious bronchitis cannot be made from eggs alone.

Adolph says vaccination is still the best control for pneumocephalitis in poultry in areas where this disease is prevalent. Chicks coming from parents who are immune usually have several weeks of immunity.

MASTITIS CONTROL

More San Diego County dairymen are testing regularly on the mastitis control program than ever before, according to F. W. Dorman, assistant farm advisor.

By testing regularly, and milking infected cows last, dairymen have been able to curtail spread of Streptococcus agalactiae. This bacteria causes 75 to 80 percent of all udder trouble in dairy cows. By controlling Streptococcus agalactiae many cows can be saved from the butcher.

Dorman says this is not a public health problem, but one entirely of economics. Heavy culling due to mastitis costs dairymen thousands of dollars a year.

The testing program is a co-operative venture between the dairymen, the Agricultural Extension Service and the County Livestock Department.

INFECTIOUS SINUSITIS OF TURKEYS

Breeders are advised not to keep turkey flocks for egg production if they have infectious sinusitis in the active stage. This bit of advice was offered by W. R. Hinshaw, of the Department of Veterinary Science of the University of California, at a recent poultry industry conference.

R. H. Adolph, assistant farm advisor of Agricultural Extension Service, says that during his discussion of sinusitis, Hinshaw said that with the present knowledge of the infection, he would hesitate to recommend keeping any flock where the disease exists. However, if the birds were affected in the early part of the season, have recovered, and been carefully culled, there should be no infection left. That type of flock should not be dangerous to keep as breeders.

Dr. Hinshaw said there has been much information added to the existing knowledge of sinusitis in the past three years. Last year four different states reported finding that a virus was the cause. Once the cause of a disease is known, it is easier to learn to control it.

In dusty areas, virus of sinusitis has been spread as far as a quarter of a mile through the air. Contact transmission also occurs from coughers. Sometimes it may be transmitted through the egg, but this is not common.

Adolph says the most effective treatment for the 'swelled head' kind found to date is silver nitrate or argyrol. However, this treatment has no effect on the air sac type of sinusitis.

Still more investigation is needed on the control and prevention of sinusitis, but the discoveries of the past few years have contributed greatly to the understanding of this infection, Hinshaw said.

FALL FARROWING FORECAST HIGH

If hog producers in California live up to their expectations, there will be 69,000 sows farrowing this fall, it has been reported to F. W. Dorman, assistant farm advisor, University of California Agricultural Extension Service. That would be six percent more than in 1948, but nine percent less than the 10-year average from 1938-47.

Breeding intentions across the nation, as reported by the California Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, show the same trend. If present estimates are correct, 13 percent more sows will farrow this fall than in the fall of 1948.

Number of pigs saved per litter this year was 6.45. This is slightly higher than last year, and the second highest on record for the nation. California saved an average of 6.3 pigs per litter. While not as high as the national average, that is a record high for the State.

The outlook is good for the 1949 national corn crop, and there was a record carry over from the 1948 corn crop. Livestock is still scarce and there is a continued strong demand for meat. Hog prices are favorable in relation to corn prices. All these factors are encouraging to the swine producer, Dorman adds.

PASTURING OF SUDAN GRASS

Pasture sudan grass when it is knee-high for best results, urges F. W. Dorman, assistant farm advisor. Many farmers tend to let the sudan get stemmy and tough before turning in their livestock.

After pasturing or mowing, irrigate as soon as possible. Sudan, well cared for, will yield a lot of feed during July and August. Dorman states that one-half to three-fourths pounds per acre of

After several games, the pirates gathered round a grounded ship flying the pirate flag, and off they sailed to the islands in the South Pacific. If there is one enterprise on earth that the quitter should leave alone, it is advertising. Advertising does not jerk . . . it pulls. It pulls gently at first but the pull is steady. It increases day by day, year by year, until it exerts an irresistible power.—John Wanamaker.

ACTIVITIES
in and Around Lemon Grove

By MARGE ELLISON

The Fiesta de la Luna parade on Saturday, brought out the best in horses and parade apparatus. Lemon Grove was well represented, as well it should be, for this is a horseman's mecca. Frank Bettincourt received the award for Men's Best Plain Western Entry; Bonnie Hinck of La Mesa was judged the best mounted girl between seven and 16 years of age; Mrs. Harry Harness, of El Cajon, was given award for best Arabian horse, and Dr. H. L. Gurney for the best Morgan horse. The most distant entry was Chet Todd of Arlington, up near Riverside. The Sheriff's Rangers were unanimously adjudged the best organized riding group (and well they deserved it); and Aztec Riders for the best color guard. There were many other colorful and well-deserving entries and awards. In the horse show that followed the parade, Lemon Grove equestrians again took a share of the awards; Bobby Dorman won 2nd ribbon in the stock horse class;

Alex Baron, fourth in Ride and Pick-up, with his partner, Mike Torn; Mrs. V. J. Dorman, first for Trail Horse Class for adults and second in Ladies Horsemanship class, in which Bonnie Hinck, of La Mesa, took third.

The big parade scheduled for next Sunday, commemorating the 180th anniversary of Mission de Alcalá will include the same color full entries as at Chula Vista, and probably many additional riders. Long hours of planning have gone into the arrangements for this gala affair, which promises to have many new and surprising attractions, such as individual exhibitions by prominent horsemen in the county showing their blue-ribbon winners and explaining and describing the various qualities and points of the different breeds of horses. Frank Bettincourt will present his palomino, Napoleon Knight; Walter Church will show Poncho, his popular pinto; Mrs. Thomas M. Meanly, her fine harness horse, Marietta Eldorado, and her national champion show pony, Symphony; Mrs. Betty Fowler will show the hunter, Evergold; Parker Shaw, the fine points of the Tennessee walking horse, with Merry Charles Wilson, owned by Mrs. Russell Albert. Dale Petross will exhibit Little Blossom, a high-schooled horse that has appeared in the movies; Carol Smith is to show her three-gaited horse, Celia Success; Guy Campbell, a polo pony; Robert S. Harness, an Arabian; Red Rogers, the champion quarter horse, Red Onions; Bill Glazier, the standardbred show horse Slipstream; A. Blake Mason his outstanding Morgan stallion, Pongero, and Robert Bradley the five-gaited horse Royal Richelieu, owned by Harry Azus. The parade will form at 11 a. m. Sunday on Taylor street, at the recreation grounds in Old Town and move to the Old Mission, the scene of the festivities for the balance of the day.

Erwin Schroeder, of Escondido, will put his educated horse, Diamond Duke, through his tricks, as also will Don Wyatt, acrobatic and trick rider of El Cajon, perform both days. E. Earl Allen is show and cavalcade manager; Frank Evans, a national show judge, will judge; Cecil Morgan, the announcer; Walter Church, parade grand marshal. The San Diego County Horsemen's Association held a business meeting Monday night at Grossmont High. There was a large turnout of horsemen from the county, making it necessary to use the auditorium instead of the Little Theatre. The meeting was interesting and great progress made in molding the foundation of the organization. D. F. Gibson, new County Supervisor, was introduced and favorably received. He assured the horsemen of his co-operation in regard to riding trails. Mrs. Leon Cazare of Mission Valley Improvement Association and a member of the group in meeting, reported a petition circulated for a riding trail in Mission Valley north of the highway. A hearing will probably come up before the Board of Supervisors next Tuesday and as many as possible are urged to be present. Secure further details at Association headquarters, 7882 Broadway, Lemon Grove. Ask information for the number of new telephone being installed within a few days.

Nine riding groups were represented at the meeting, there being more than 100 individuals present. Discussion was general about one of the aged, but very active members, R. M. Hamilton, of the Mission Valley Polo grounds, who was assaulted by two sailors at Third and Broadway Monday morning. He was taken to the County Hospital, unconscious, with a head injury, face and ear lacerations, broken shoulder and rib injuries. Witnesses pursued the boys and caught them as they ran into a nearby liquor store. Inquiry reveals they were held in jail overnight and released the next day. Upon motion by Dr. F. Gigliotti, a board of five members of the Association was appointed to investigate. Mr. Hamilton is recuperating but will be disabled for some time. The attack was unprovoked.

Meeting of the Board of Directors of the Association will be held Friday evening at headquarters, 7882 Broadway.

Work of Vista La Mesa Church School Reported

One hundred sixty-five children were enrolled the first week of the Vista La Mesa Christian Vacation Church school, which closed last week. Over 80 percent achieved standards set for certificates of merit.

The theme for the kindergarten children was "Happy Times in Our Church." They had mid-morning snack each day, served by ladies of the church; learned sharing by making gifts for the church, pastor, home mission school and others.

The primary theme, "We Learn About the Church," taught the children that the church is more than a group of local people, but is world wide and inter racial. Handwork activities included decorating absentee cards for the church, making waste paper baskets for church school, scrapbooks for home mission school, book of poetry for the pastor, individual notebooks to take home, blueprint and scatterprint pictures.

The junior department was divided into four interest groups—drama, radio script, relief map and model church units. Their individual notebooks contained their interesting discoveries concerning the early followers of Jesus, a section of early Christian symbols, snapshots of their department at work and small copies of famous paintings of religious leaders.

All departments set standards for their own work and worked out rules of conduct as they went along. Nearly all children shared some of their own good clothing, books, toys, and school supplies with Southern Christian Institute children, and brought cash offerings to buy pictures for African mission field.

Brotherhood was put into practice by inviting Negro children from the Linda Vista Baptist Church to share a day of their school with them on Wednesday and serving a picnic lunch at noon. Seventeen children and four teachers came, and all children reached a better understanding and appreciation of each other.

The school staff and mothers took the children to Playland at 11 a. m. on closing day of school for an hour of fun.

The staff of workers included: Mrs. Irvine Smith, superintendent; Mrs. Harry Shadinger, registrar; Norma Shadinger, secretarial assistant; Katherine Mason playground director, assisted by Barbara Harshaw and Carol Hassek; kindergarten mid-morning snack chairman, Mrs. Jas. Conlee.

Kindergarten department—Mrs. Bartley Roggensack, superintendent; Mrs. Edgar Allee, Mrs. Jas. McPhail, Mrs. Kelly and Mrs. Paul Myers.

Primary department—Mrs. Lester MacIntosh, superintendent; Mrs. H. O. Holmquist, Mrs. M. O. McCoy, Mrs. Mark Paul Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. C. E. DeHoney and Mrs. Robert Bennett.

Junior department—Mrs. Harold Haskins, superintendent; Mrs. Russell Hensley, Rev. R. Hensley, Mrs. Cecile Atkins, Mrs. Gilbert

Durham, Mrs. Roy Helms and Mrs. Louis Rosenfeld.
